

MOBILE PHONE AND RELATED METHOD CAPABLE OF DISPLAYING CUSTOMIZED ANIMATION

Abstract

A mobile phone and related method capable of displaying customized animation. The mobile phone includes a display, a memory, and a controller for controlling operations of the mobile phone. The memory stores an original image data, the controller is capable of generating a plurality of image data from the original image data to form a varying picture, and displaying the varying picture on the display according to parameters and time intervals specified by users so as to present customized animation.